

Preface

The articles collected here are the product of the Labor Organizing and the Law Conference held at the Buchmann Faculty of Law, Tel Aviv University, in January 2015, with the support of Paula Goldberg Foundation and the Minerva Center on Human Rights. Theoretical Inquiries in Law thanks Guy Mundlak, Benjamin I. Sachs and Hila Shamir, the organizers of the conference, for bringing together an outstanding group of contributors. Guy Mundlak and Hila Shamir also served as guest editors of this issue, and Benjamin I. Sachs is the author of this issue's introduction. We also thank Ruvik Danieli for style-editing the articles, and all the conference participants and commentators. The articles published in this issue, as well as comments on the articles, are available online in the Theoretical Inquiries in Law Website (<http://en-law.tau.ac.il/til>).

The Associate Editor, Junior Editors, and Assistant Editors