

Theoretical Inquiries in Law

Volume 17, Number 2, July 2016

The Constitution of Information: From Gutenberg to Snowden

Contents

	Introduction	i
Julie E. Cohen	The Regulatory State in the Information Age	369
Michael Geist	The Policy Battle over Information and Digital Policy Regulation: A Canadian Perspective	415
Lisa M. Austin	Technological Tattletales and Constitutional Black Holes: Communications Intermediaries and Constitutional Constraints	451
Frank Pasquale	Platform Neutrality: Enhancing Freedom of Expression in Spheres of Private Power	487
Margaret Jane Radin	Taking Notice Seriously: Information Delivery and Consumer Contract Formation	515
Brett Frischmann	Thoughts on Techno-Social Engineering of Humans and the Freedom to Be Off (or Free from Such Engineering)	535
Pamela Samuelson	Freedom to Tinker	563
Carys J. Craig	Technological Neutrality: Recalibrating Copyright in the Information Age	601
Ariel Katz	Intellectual Property, Antitrust, and the Rule of Law: Between Private Power and State Power	633
Richard A. Epstein	Compounding Errors: Why Heightened Regulation and Taxation Are Bad Antidotes for Recessions and Income Inequality	711